Stabilization Fund
Should Be Destroyed
by School Amendment

What's wrong with Arkansas? Here is a prime example: At the tax-collecting level it now appears that the total of state special levies for the fiscal year ending the last of this month will reach an all-time high — yet the public schools' share will be $1,400,000 short of what they received in fiscal 1954-55, and $1,300,000 short of fiscal 1953-54.

At the top administration level you would suppose the state's schoolmen should be greatly concerned over a situation where the taxpayers are putting out more and more money while the schools are getting less and less — but your "supposing" is quite wrong. With their financial house on fire the big shots of the Arkansas Education Association can't be bothered by mere money.

What the AEA is concentrating on is a proposed constitutional amendment authored by Executive Secretary Forrest Rozzell and bearing the unbelievable title, "An Amendment to Stabilize the Board of Education."

Incredible as it may be, Rozzell and the AEA are going to let the money go while they attempt to latch onto some permanent jobs for the State Board of Education. They point to the Game & Fish Commission and the State Highway Commission as other examples of autonomous agencies that have become proof against meddling by the legislature — complete.

Ignoring the fact that the amendments which created these two guaranteed funds as well as management.

You can understand, therefore, why a state-wide revolt by school superintendents has broken out against the AEA. E. F. Dunn, superintendent of the Pulaski County Special School District, announced last week at Little Rock that a caucus of superintendents had been held and he and the others are going to refuse to circulate the AEA petition.

Dunn charged that "a small group" within AEA arbitrarily controls every move of this supposedly state-wide organization.

At this point a word of explanation is due as to how it is possible for the taxpayers to turn in more money while the schools' share declines. "State aid" is the money that local districts receive from Little Rock for Transportation, Minimum School Budget, and Apportionment Aid. It is derived from the State Revenue Stabilization Fund — a melting pot into which various state special taxes, including the sales tax, are poured . . . and from which withdrawals are made on a schedule controlled by the legislature.

The Revenue Stabilization Fund is relatively new. Originally most of the state's special taxes — particularly those going to the schools — were earmarked for specific purposes. For instance, the sales tax was originally divided 65% for the schools and 35% for welfare and hospital purposes. And couldn't be changed by the legislature without disclosing at once the damage that would be done by such meddling.

But in the administration of Gov. Bon Laney these special taxes were lumped together as the Revenue Stabilization Fund — whose disbursements could be altered from time to time by the legislature with less obvious intent and public uproar. And the disbursements have been so altered by virtually every General Assembly since Governor Laney's time.

The legislative operation doesn't always make a direct cut in public schools funds. Rather, the procedure is to cut in on the Stabilization Fund some agency for whom no taxes ever were deposited. For instance, county and city governments now get 5 million a year from the Stabilization Fund — although no revenue was deposited in their names. In calendar 1955 the general revenue fund of Hempstead county got $37,000 and the city of Hope $24,000. You can look on the general revenue books of any city and county in the state and find similar deposits made authoritatively by the state under authority of Act 118 of 1953.

The net result of a decade of operations by the Revenue Stabilization Fund is that the taxpayers pay more money while the schools get less money and every self-respecting schoolman in Arkansas ought to rise up angrily and demand that the Fund be destroyed.

Our hat is off to Superintendent Dunn of Pulaski County Special School District for a bold and courageous and truthful declaration.

What Arkansas needs is a constitutional amendment — not to guarantee state school board jobs . . . but to guarantee that when the citizen pays a dollar for school purposes the schools actually get it.

Dozen Wrecks Keep State, City Officers Busy

A rash of at least a dozen wrecks plagued State and City Police over the weekend and resulted in considerable property damage as well as critical injury to at least four persons.

State Troopers Downing and Ward said three Negroes were critically hurt about 8:15 last night when their car went out of control on a curve on Highway 4 at Ozan and went into a ditch. They were taken to a Nashville hospital and the names of the injured were not immediately available.

An auto driven by Jack Cummings of Emmet pulled out from a service station in Emmet into the path of an auto driven by Donald Parker of Hope about 9:30 Saturday night. State Police reported. Nobody was seriously hurt. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Sunday afternoon an auto driven by Burkett Wiley hit another driven by James Gulley, both of Hope, on Highway 4. Officers said Wiley was attempting to pass Gulley when the latter made a left turn. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

About 2 a. m. Sunday on Highway 67 north of Prescott a truck driven by Donald E. Shull of Atlanta, Ga., traveling north, was hit by an auto driven by Sgt. Cloud Carney of Camp Polk, La. Officers said the soldier apparently dozed off and ran into the wheel of the injured and taken to the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs. The truck was a total loss and the truck had about $450 damage, according to Officers Downing and Ward.

Early Sunday about 1:30 a. m. an auto driven by Hosea Watkins, Hope, went out of control and overturned and burned on old Highway 67 east of here. Officers said Watkins escaped by breaking out a window. The car was completely gutted by the blaze.

About a mile out of Washington Sunday at 1 p. m. an auto driven by Gladys Walker went out of control when the brakes failed on a curve, hit an embankment, slightly injuring the woman and her 11-year-old daughter, Mary Frances. The car was ruined.

At 3:30 p. m. Sunday, west of Prescott on Highway 19, about a mile out, an auto driven by Emogene Walton, 17, went out of control and into a ditch, critically hurting the driver. Three others, Lois Walton, Bobbie Faye Willingham and McKinley Craven, riding in the auto received minor injuries. Two other accidents, both minor, were investigated by Officers Ward and Downing. Details were not immediately available.

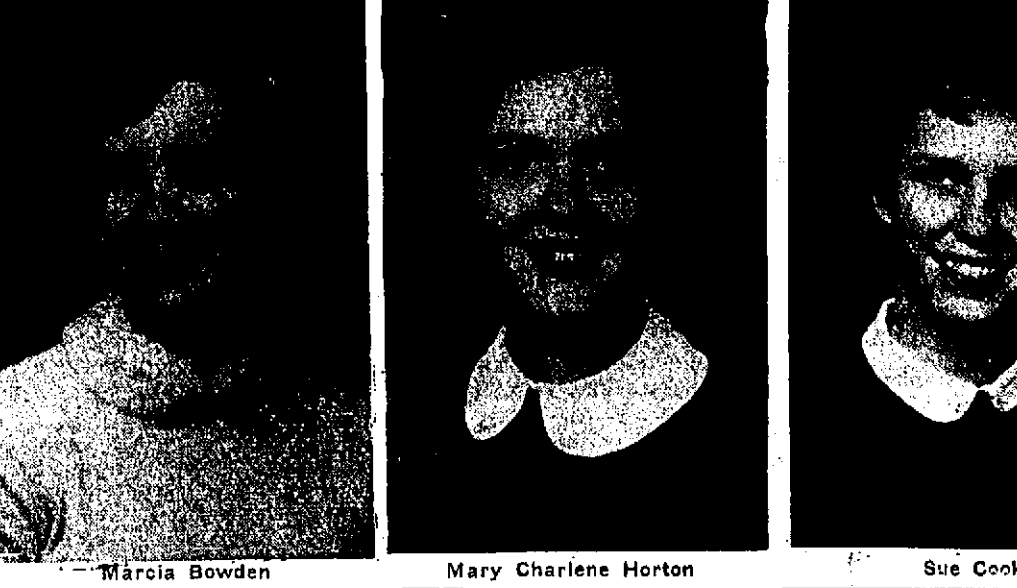

Three accidents, two of them early Monday, were investigated by City Police.

On Third street west an auto driven by E. Cross of Hope and another driven by Paul Victor Ritter of Los Angeles collided with fender and bumper damage resulting to both vehicles.

Also this morning at North Hazel and Avenue C auto driven by Hadie Byrom was involved in an accident with a truck driven by Parker Walker with heavy damage to both vehicles. Byrom was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Saturday at Hazel and Avenue B autos driven by Bessie Lee Evans and Alfred Haddix collided with damage to both resulting. Bessie Lee Evans was charged with failure to yield right-of-way. City Officers reported.

Tito Ignores Stalin in Visit to Lenin Tomb

MOSCOW (AP) Yugoslav President Tito visited the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum today and pointedly ignored Stalin, the man who expelled him from the Communist family of nations eight years ago.

The Yugoslav President, here to the Soviet Union's post-Stalin leaders, laid a giant wreath of Easter lilies and tulips at the tomb in Red Square. The inscription on it said:

"To Vladimir Ilyich Lenin from Josip Broz Tito."

Without missing a step, Tito marched briskly past the glass-encased bodies of Lenin and Stalin, inside the mausoleum. Aboard of Lenin's casket, the visitor turned his head and looked briefly.

He walked past Stalin's body without turning his head.

Eight minutes after he left his car, the Yugoslav chief had walked through the mausoleum, unaccompanied past a line of some 40 tombs of Communist leaders enshrined in the Kremlin walls and was being driven away.

Tito was accompanied on his tour by his handsome wife Jovanka, smartly dressed in a pink silk gabardine dress and a white hat.

Predicts Drug to Control Cancer

DETROIT (AP) — Scientists may find a kind of "penicillin" to control most or all forms of cancer, a British scientist said today.

It would depend upon discovering a common denominator difference between cancerous and healthy cells. The drug would take advantage of the difference.

It "is not impossible" that such a penicillin-like drug might be found, because of research developments in the last five years, said Dr. Alexander Haddow, famous cancer researcher from the Chester Beatty Research Institute, London, Eng.

Dr. Haddow explained the prospect and problems in a news conference at the opening of the third National Cancer Conference sponsored by the American Cancer Society and National Cancer Institute of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Miss Payne took the results of the poll as a clear call for action. Since then the forum has been bombarding politicians — from ward bosses to national party chieftains — with demands that they endorse skirt-wearing candidates for veep.

The petition drive is deadly serious.

"It is probably too late for us to win in 1956," said Miss Payne, who says she has no political ambitions herself. "But we'll win in 1960."

"If it comes to the worst—if all else fails—we will march on Washington. That should prove effective."

The ladies aren't altogether altruists.

"With a woman acting as president's right hand man," remarked Miss Payne, "housewives would have a better chance for government recognition. For one thing, they could get security. A housewife has social security. Why shouldn't a housewife have it, too?"

As to the reasons why women in general should be given higher political posts, Miss Payne made these points:

Death Sentence in Nevada Co. Rape Upheld

BY ADREN COOPER
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The death penalty for a Negro convicted of raping a 76-year-old white woman was upheld today by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Leo Scarber was sentenced to die in the electric chair by Nevada County jury last October 24 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of raping a 76-year-old white widow in the Willisville community near Prescott.

Three of the seven points in the appeal motion for a new trial challenged the sufficiency of the evidence; the other four contended that the court had committed technical errors.

The unanimous Supreme Court decision, with Associate Justice Sam Robinson not participating, said that the plea of guilty was equivalent to a conviction, and that there "is ample independent, uncontradicted evidence to sustain the verdict."

The widow had testified that the 52-year-old Scarber assaulted her and threatened to kill her early on the morning of August 29 at her farm home where she lived alone. Scarber lived in another farmhouse in the same community.

Deputy Sheriff Max Womack had testified that he saw tracks leading from the victim's house, found where a person had gone to sleep in a field nearby and then followed the tracks to a barn, where he found Scarber. Womack testified that Scarber was under the influence of intoxicating liquor, although the widow said that he had not been drinking.

Testimony indicated that Scarber had no previous convictions other than for drunkenness and misdemeanors.

The appeal to the high court contended that the Circuit Court did not properly instruct the jury as to its right to fix the punishment at death or life imprisonment.

At one point during the trial, the jury returned to the courtroom and asked if there were any way that a life sentence would be served in full if it were imposed. A juror inquired if the defendant might "stay up there a while and get out."

In reply Circuit Judge Lyle Brown had replied that matters of clemency were strictly within the power of the executive department and that such matters should not enter into the jury's decision.

The Supreme Court said that it found "no ambiguity in the court's reply which clearly and correctly answered the juror's query." The court also said that defense counsel did not object to the statement at that time.

The high court ruling, written by Associate Justice Minor Milwee, said that there was no merit to a defense contention that the jury should have been allowed to consider the charge of assault with intent to rape.

The appeal said that the circuit court judge erred in permitting the jury to separate for a 6-minute recess prior to submission of the case to it. The Supreme Court said there is nothing to indicate "any abuse of the court's discretion in permitting the jury to so separate instead of requiring that they be kept together in charge of an officer."

Welfare Fund Up But Pay Is Still Less

LITTLE ROCK (Special) June Welfare checks, the last, except for a few supplemental payments to be written this fiscal year, were sent out last week to 53,894 aged, 8,221 dependent children cases, 5,479 disabled and 1,993 blind persons on the Welfare Department's rolls.

Expenditures from both state and federal funds on these major assistance categories total a record-breaking $29,500,000 in 1955-56, more and a $500,000 increase over last year's.

Even though old age assistance checks written this year total $21,375,315, compared to $21,357,926 in 1954-55, the average check for the aged, who comprise 77 per cent of those on the June payment list, was 74 cents less than it was in June last year, down to $32.77 from $33.51.

The average per dependent children case payment has risen in the disabled 82 cents to $31.70 from $31.08, but the blind, like the aged, have lost out. Their average check has decreased 92 cents from $40.11 to $39.19.

Record-breaking revenue collections insured the Welfare Fund's receiving all its $9,000,000 state allocation a month early this year. No further distribution of state revenues is contemplated before the end of July.

In Hempstead County, old age assistance payment this month for 629 clients totaled $20,307, for 34 dependent children cases, $1,833. In Howard County 604 old age cases received $19,888; 55 A. D. C. cases $2,817; in Lafayette County 457 old age cases were paid $14,452; 58 A. D. C. cases $3,348, and in Nevada County, 445 old age cases, $13,574; 51 A. D. C. cases, $3,201.

NAS Readies Study of Atom Radiation

WASHINGTON (AP) The National Academy of Sciences said today it will make public a week from Wednesday the initial findings of a study of the effects of atomic radiations on man and his environment.

There are wide differences of opinion among scientists as to the danger, particularly as future generations may be effected.

Announcement of the forthcoming report was made by the academy's president, Detlev W. Bronk, who also heads the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York City.

Saying that "more than 100 leading scientists . . . have studied this serious problem for many months," Bronk said in a statement that the findings "are of importance to every man, woman and child" in the world.

He said the report will embrace an assessment of all presently available information as to the effects of radiations on human health, hereditarily, agriculture and food supplies, the oceans and fish life, and the weather. It also will cover the subject of disposal and disposal of radioactive wastes.

Bronk made no reference to the controversy that exists about the degree of hazard from atomic radiations, especially as regards the genetic or hereditary aspects.

The Atomic Energy Commission has been accused by some scientists of using misleading language in its statements that the present rate of testing A-bombs and H-bombs constitutes only a "negligible" radiation hazard to future generations.

Leo Scarber vs. State of Arkansas, appeal from Nevada Circuit Court, affirmed.

Tommy Loyd Walker vs. State of Arkansas, appeal from Cleburne Circuit Court, affirmed.

Edna Mae Pasteur and others vs. Adma C. Niswanger and others, appeal from Lafayette Chancery Court, affirmed.

Frank Coley vs. Circuit Court of Prairie County, Southern District, petition for writ of prohibition denied.

Porter Hutchinson and others vs. Kate Anthony Sheppard, appeal from Jackson Chancery Court, modified and affirmed.

Byrd Morrison of Byrd Morrison Lumber Co. vs. Robert P. Bland and others, appeal from Greene Chancery Court, modified and affirmed.

Lon Anderson vs. State of Arkansas, appeal from Drew Circuit Court, reversed and remanded.

Pentagon Says Foreign Aid Cut Is Unacceptable

WASHINGTON (AP) U.S. military leaders reportedly say a proposed billion-dollar cut in foreign military aid is both "politically and militarily unacceptable" and want the cut held to 12 millions.

This Pentagon viewpoint was reported by Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) as the House prepared to take up Wednesday a sharply cut version of President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program. The authorization bill would fix ceilings; actual appropriations would be made later.

In other weekend developments, Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said India may need more economic help to stay ahead of Red China; federal investigators reported on alleged "deficiencies" in aid to Egypt; and Marshal Tito's visit to Russia raised new questions over money for Yugoslavia.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted to cut a billion dollars from the three billion Eisenhower asked for military aid, and another 100 millions for economic and technical aid.

Vorys quoted unnamed Defense Department officials as saying a basic revamping of the nation's security program might be required if the committee cut is sustained, but that 129 million might be trimmed "without serious damage to the national interest."

Vorys is a senior Republican member of the committee.

The Council of State Chambers of Commerce took the opposite approach, however, saying the committee's cuts "would hardly cripple" the program.

Leggett Goes to Trial for Slaying Youth

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jurors were being qualified for the death penalty today as the murder trial of Emmett Earl Leggett got under way in Pulaski Circuit Court.

Leggett, a husky 19-year-old convict, is charged with first degree murder in the strangulation slaying of a 14-year-old Jacksonville boy.

Judge William J. Kirby excused women jurors because the jury will be kept locked up nightly until a verdict is returned.

Leggett, dressed in a long-sleeved gray sports shirt and blue trousers, showed no emotion during the lengthy questioning of jurors.

U. S. Releases Krushchev Talk Charging Stalin

BY DONALD J. GONALS
WASHINGTON, (UP) — Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Krushchev, in his famous speech to the Communist Party Congress in February, flatly accused the late Josef Stalin of using "many thousands of honest and innocent Communists" in his effort to be a "superman."

Krushchev's bitter post mortem denunciation of Stalin was released today by the State Department in the form of a document sent out by Moscow to Communist parties overseas. The State Department said it had obtained the 58-page document from a "confidential source."

The State Department cautioned that it does not "vouch" for the "authenticity" of the document. But it was evident the State Department believed it was a reliable version of the speech. The text of the document was peppered with such parenthetical phrases as "tumultuous, prolonged applause" and "animation in the hall" to describe the feeling of the delegates to the conference as Krushchev spoke.

Krushchev made the speech before a closed session of the Communist Party Congress in Moscow on Feb. 24. There were piecemeal leaks of the sensational address at the time. But the text made public today was even more scathing than the fragments.

In the opening sentence of his speech, Krushchev noted that "the late Josef Stalin was a great meetings of the congress" about the cult of the individual and about its harmful consequences.

After Stalin's death, Krushchev said top party leaders agreed to renounce any policy of elevating one person such as Stalin "to transform him into a superman possessing supernatural powers."

County Schools Get $55,824 From State

LITTLE ROCK (Special) The State Education Department this week sent the school districts the last distribution of state Minimum School Budget (salary) and Transportation Aid for this fiscal year. A $55,824 payment, representing one and one-half times the amount originally scheduled for payment in May.

The original distribution schedule, calling for a final payment at the end of June, was "suspended" when the state's General Revenue collections reached record-breaking heights, but the districts never the less finished out the year with $1,400,000 less state aid than they received in fiscal 1954-55, and $1,300,000 less than was sent them the year before that.

The Education Department's "economy budget" which resulted in the decreased allocations of Minimum School Budget and Transportation Aid, was the consequence of several factors. The General Assembly, influenced in 1955 by prognostications of falling revenue collections, failed to increase the Public School Funds $29,700,000 allotment under the Revenue Stabilization Law. The Education Department is also faced annually with the necessity of transferring a sum to the Teacher Retirement System Fund as state matching money for teacher retirement contributions. Last year the transfer, which is made immediately after the beginning of each new fiscal year, was $2,234,278. The estimate for matching contributions for the current fiscal year is close to $3,000,000.

The schools are yet to be paid their last installment of Apportionment Aid and reimbursement for fourth-quarter expenditures on the vocational education program, which is partly financed by federal funds. When the state aid payments for this year are completed with the Apportionment distribution, the schools will have received a total $24,596,214 from this source.

The latest installment of aid brought $55,824 to Hempstead County schools, $35,935 to Howard County, $24,441 to Lafayette County and $40,105 to Nevada County.

LITTLE LIZ

Little Liz, a 10-year-old girl, was found dead in a ditch near the intersection of Highway 19 and Highway 67, south of Prescott, Sunday morning. The girl was wearing a pink dress and a white hat. The cause of death is not yet known.

Declares Civil Rights Issue Nationwide

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY) says the civil rights problem has "sharpened into a national crisis."

He said New York City's Harlem, a predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican area, is "illustration and proof" that the civil rights problem "is a Southern as well as a Northern one."

The senator spoke in a Harlem church yesterday at the annual meeting of the Urban League of Greater New York. The league, whose members are both Negro and white, is dedicated to improving the lot of American Negroes.

The league cited Lehman as "the conscience of the South and the nation in the fight for full equality of opportunity for all Americans."

"Harlem," said Lehman, "is a community rich in tradition and culture, but Harlem is also a rebuke to us of the North, and a challenge to clean up our own backyard, even as we press forward with our efforts to bring justice and equality to the Negroes and other oppressed minorities in the South."

Rain Clouds Pose Threat of Floods

By The Associated Press

Rain clouds threatened to send more water into the flooding Columbia River in the Pacific Northwest today.

Some 1,000 people have been evacuated and thousands of acres of land have been flooded as the Columbia and its tributaries carry runoffs from record mountain snowpacks.

A crest of 27 feet has been forecast at Vancouver, Wash., where the Columbia rose to nearly 12 feet above flood stage. Army engineers expected a 28-foot level when workers gave up efforts at closing a hole in a levee apparently burrowed by beavers. The water covered 1,600 acres of land and 12 families who lived in the area were evacuated.

A number of river communities on the Washington side of the river were flooding. The Kootenai, a Columbia tributary in Idaho, rose to near record levels at Bonners Ferry. Some 18,000 acres of Idaho farmland have been flooded.

acteristics akin to those of a good"

"Such a man supposedly knows everything, see everything, thinks for everyone, can do anything" is infallible in his behavior," Khrushchev said. "Such a belief about a man, and specifically about Stalin, was cultivated among us for many years."

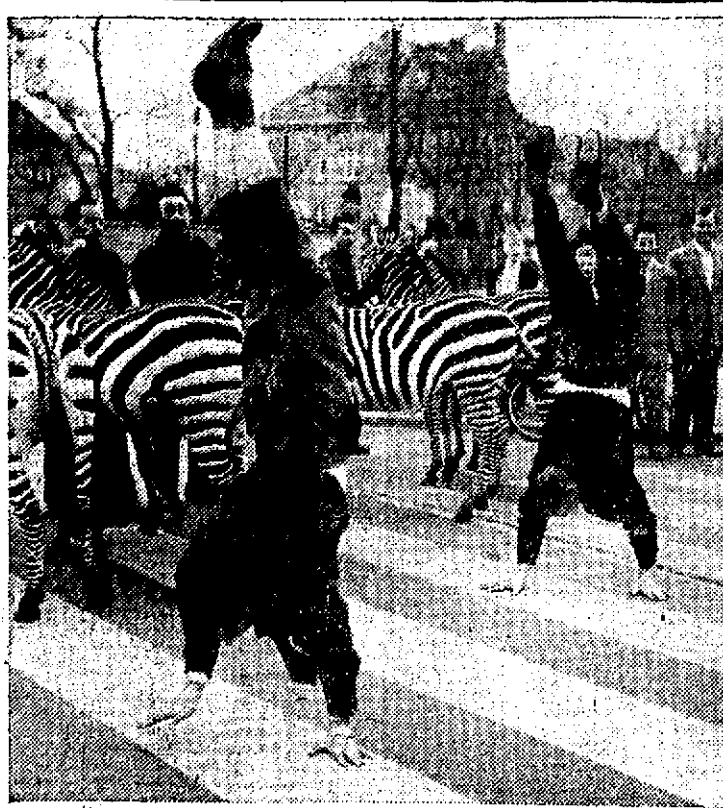

Khrushchev then charged that Stalin, early in his rise to power, slandered and made false charges against "honest Communists." This "gravely undermined" the Communist effort and showed that Stalin regarded real revolutionists as "two faced."

"This was the result of the abuse of power by Stalin, who began to use mass terror against the party cadres," Khrushchev said.

The bald party secretary, warning to the attack, cried that "vile things" were practiced under Stalin's regime.

Khrushchev said Stalin used the bloody "purge trials" of the 1930's to consolidate his own dictatorial power at the cost of thousands of his comrades' lives.

"Many thousands of honest and innocent Communists have died as a result of the fact that all kinds of slanderous 'confessions' were accepted, and as a result of the practice of forcing accusations against oneself and others," he said.

Oldest Rest Home Patient Dies

HOT SPRINGS, (AP) — Julius Stainmesse, who at 101 was the oldest patient in the history of the Garland County Rest Home here, died yesterday at the institution.

Stainmesse, a retired longshoreman, had no survivors.

He was born at New Orleans on Jan. 18, 1855 and came to Arkansas in 1902. For many years he had lived in the vicinity of Hot Springs.

Canada and the United States are the only countries in the world having a surplus rather than a shortage of food.

Faubus Won't Endorse State Police Idea

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said today that he will not endorse any move to put the State Police or any other state agency under the authority of an independent commission.

In commenting on a speech made at Elytheville last week by State Police Capt. Frank McGibbony Faubus said he didn't interpret McGibbony's statements to mean that the state police captain favored an independent police setup.

"Any public service cannot be taken entirely out of politics," the governor said. "I mean by politics, the practice of our way of Democracy. It is merely transferring it from one group to another. I am not endorsing any move to set up any so-called independent agencies."

McGibbony had pointed out that the state police director is appointed by the governor, but he said that he was not criticizing the present governor or any recent chief executive.

Faubus did not mention by name the proposals to set up the State Hospital and Board of Education under separate commissions similar to the Highway Department setup.

Faubus said that "not one patrolman was fired by this administration." However, he said that personnel in the weights and standards division had changed "quite a bit."

Nixon's Friend to Make Statement

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Murray Chotiner, campaign manager for Vice President Nixon in 1952, promises to release a "very interesting" statement today about why the Republican party no longer needs his services.

Leonard Hall, the party's national chairman, said yesterday that the GOP didn't plan to use Chotiner in the 1956 campaign. The Beverly Hills attorney recently was under fire of a Senate subcommittee.

Chotiner, a top California Republican figure, also was identified with campaigns of Senate Republican Leaders Knowland and ex-Gov. Earl Warren, now chief justice.

"There are more women than men voters, but they have less representation.

"Women control most of the spending in America. If they can control most of the money, why shouldn't they control the government.

"If England can have a queen, the least that U. S. women are entitled to is the vice presidency. "Women enjoy talking more than men, and the longer statesmen talk the less chance there is they will go to war."

In their poll the members of the forum named as possible candidates for lady vee the following: Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce, and Frances E. Willis, ambassador to Switzerland.

Mrs. Roosevelt rather pulled the rug out from under the ladies by writing in a magazine that she felt the time wasn't ripe yet for a woman vice president. The forum has chided her for this view and is seeking to change her opinion.

If it's a good idea to have a lady vee, who not break completely with political tradition and elect a woman as president and another woman as head of the United Nations.

"One thing at a time," said Miss Payne, her eyes gleaming with visions of distant feminine victories.

Beauty for a bride starts long before the big day. To keep feet comfortable and soft, even after hours of fittings, a footbath is recommended (left). Feet should be soaked in warm water and sudsy; toes should be flexed and ankles rotated to relieve tired muscles. This will keep feet in trim for the receiving line. A relaxing daily bath, with attention to fingernails and hands (above) will assure perfection on the wedding day. Bath tray makes manicure-in-the-lub possible.

Get Tough With Free-Loaders!
Will He Be Jealous?
Teach Teen To Make Decisions

Dear Miss Dix: What can one do about house guests who come several times a year and stay, and stay, and stay? The husband travels all over the country on business, taking his wife for company. They make a point of staying with old friends and state, frankly, that it is more comfortable than staying in hotels. They are both on diets and isn't unusual for them to refuse every dish set before them. They calmly wait until the cook (that's me) leaves her meal and goes to the kitchen to prepare something special. I can only hope their business in our town gets so bad they'll give up.

MRS. R. A.

Dear Mrs. R. A.: The trouble with the laws of hospitality is that they can be transgressed without incurring penalties. If other laws were stretched to the same degree, the culprits would be clapped in jail.

The only cure is to stop the comfort and convenience. Make their next visit the occasion for painting decorating or what have you. Anything to make the spare room useless. And as for meals, just be out of everything that would make emergency menus. Put the food you've prepared on the table, and that's that! Make it clear you are not fussing for diets.

Your house guests not only are imposing on your hospitality but they're making money on it. The gentleman (?) obviously is traveling on an expense account, but heaven forbid he should have expenses when he has amenable hosts. Try dropping in on them sometime and see how welcome you'll be.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My girl friend is very pretty, has a good figure and make such a fine appearance that everyone comments on her. To top it off, she has red hair. As of now, I'm not jealous, but I wonder if I will be after our marriage. When people remark about her then, I probably won't like it. Should I try? MARCUS

Dear Marcus: One fact is certainly indisputable. A red-headed girl with a good figure will always attract attention and cause remarks. Instead of being resentful, be mighty proud that she chose you. That attitude prevents possible jealousy.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 13 years old and not allowed to do anything for myself. I can't travel alone or with friends, can't select my own clothes, can't even choose my own friends. When I need dresses or shoes, Father and Mother go with me and we buy what they like.

JENNIFER

Dear Jennifer: Pass this tip along to your folks. They should be encouraging and training you to make decisions. This is much more difficult than dragging you along to have clothes picked out for you, but parenthood is not a lazy man's (or woman's) job.

You'll make mistakes, undoubtedly, but you'll learn more from one ill-chosen frock than from all Mom's selections.

Even traveling from one part of the city to another isn't beyond the capabilities of a girl your age. I can understand limitations on where you go, but you should be taught to travel completely. At what age will your parents recognize that you are no longer a baby?

Iowa Voting
Being Watched
by Nation

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa's voting in today's primary election is being watched nationally for two guides, although the indications are it doesn't bear the importance nationally of the balloting in some of the larger states.

One of the highpoints is the contest for U.S. senator and how it may reflect the attitude of residents of this state toward President Eisenhower's farm program and policies.

The other guide will be the Republican and Democratic vote totals which could indicate the President's strength now compared with 1952.

But Iowa, which does not have a provision for a presidential preference in its primary, will not offer any indication of the relative strength of two Democratic presidential aspirants—Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Burma Premier Expected to Resign

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Informed sources said Premier U Nu, who has headed the government of Burma since it won independence from the British eight years ago, will announce his resignation tomorrow.

The informants said he will name as his successor 41-year-old Ba Swe, defense minister and vice president of the Anti-Fascist Peoples Freedom League, Burma's ruling Socialist political party.

U Nu reportedly told his Cabinet he was quitting to devote full time reorganizing the AFPL. Informants said, however, he was getting out because he felt his foreign policy of neutral friendliness to all nations has failed. They added that he felt the Soviet and Red Chinese embassies in Rangoon were embarrassing his government with their operations in Burma.

The report said the Cabinet agreed to U Nu's request with the provision that he be on tap for advice and that he continue to help guide the government through the party.

They also stipulated that he agree to rejoin the government in case he is needed. Informants said U Nu gave no definite promise.

Ba Swe, a student leader in his youth, gave up a promising academic career to enter politics. He assumed charge of the Defense Ministry after the Korean War broke out.

582 Girls Attending
State Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Five hundred eighty-two Arkansas high school girls are at nearby Camp Robinson today for the annual Girls State, which got underway yesterday.

Director Miss Claudia Kuykendall of Conway said she believed it was the largest number of delegates ever registered at any Girls State event in the nation.

For the experiment in democratic processes which is supervised by the American Legion Auxiliary, girls were assigned affiliations to two parties—Nationalist and Federalist.

The girls started campaigning as soon as registration was completed. Before the event ends Saturday, they will elect officers on city, county, district and state levels.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NO. 43

BE IT RESOLVED, by the House of Representatives of the State of Arkansas and by the Senate, a majority of all members elected to each House agreeing thereto: That the following is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Representatives and Senators, if a majority of electors voting thereon, at such an election, adopt such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

SECTION 1. The General Assembly shall provide for the support of the common schools by general law, including an annual per capita tax of One Dollar ($1.00), to be assessed on every inhabitant of this State over the age of twenty-one (21) years, and school districts are hereby authorized to levy by a vote of the qualified electors respectively thereof at the annual school election an annual tax not to exceed Thirty mills (30) on the dollar in any one year, on the taxable property in such school district for the maintenance of schools, the erection and equipment of school buildings, and the retirement of existing indebtedness, the amount and purpose of such expenditures and the tax to be levied therefor to be determined under such budgetary requirements as the General Assembly may provide; that in order to pay the bonded indebtedness of any district existing on the effective date hereof, and until such bonded indebtedness is fully paid, a school district shall continue to levy additionally each year the millage previously voted for that purpose. Provided, further, that no such tax shall be appropriated for any other purpose nor any other district than that for which it is levied.

SECTION 2. Amendment 40 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, approved in 1948, and all other parts of the Constitution in conflict with this Amendment be and the same are hereby repealed.

SECTION 3. This Amendment shall take effect immediately upon its adoption, but shall not affect any school millage levy then in effect until the next regular school election.

Bauer Sisters Take Top Money

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — The famed Bauer golfing sisters are a little richer today, with Marlene picking up $1,350 for first prize in the Churchill Valley women's invitational golf tournament and Alice pocketing $855 in tying for second place.

Marlene, of Asheville, N. C., shot a 71 yesterday despite soggy greens and inclement weather to finish with a 72-hole total of 293.

Meanwhile, sister Alice from Sarastota, Fla., posted a final round of 73 to give her a 298 total and a second place tie with Fay Crocker, U. S. women's open champ from Montevideo, Uruguay.
Miss Crocker had a final round 77 to lose the one stroke lead she held for three days.

Moore to Fight to Retain Title

By The Associated Press
A pair of fights that could lead to a September final for the vac-cant heavyweight title are on tap this week.

In London tomorrow night Archie Moore, the light heavyweight champion, and self-appointed No. 1 heavyweight, defends his 175-pound crown against Trinidad's Yolande Pompey in a 15-rounder. The 39-year-old champ from San Diego, Calif., is a 4-1 favorite to dispose of the 27-year-old 170-pounder.

On Friday night in New York's Madison Square Garden, Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, 24-year-old New Yorker and No. 2 heavyweight, opposes Floyd Patterson, 21, once-beaten Brooklyn prodigy, in a 12-round elimination scrap.

Middleweight contenders Bobby Boyd, Chicago, and Milo Savage,
Salt Lake City, clash at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Tonight's TV headliner matches a couple of good offensive fighters in Tex Gonzalez, East Orange, N.J., and Hardy (Bacooka) Smallwood, Brooklyn, at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. Gonzalez has a 21-5-1 record compared to Smallwood's 17-5-2.

Californian Leads in Houston Meet

DALLAS — Gene Littler, the cool and calculating Californian who's at his best when the stakes are high, led the $70,000 Texas International Open into its final round today with a 2-stroke bulge over Cary Middlecoff, the deliberate dentist from Memphis.

Littler, ex-amateur king from Singing Hills, Calif., who has won some of golf's biggest purses in his three years as a professional, will be after $13,478 first money.
He takes a 54-hole total of 197 into the last round.

tion of officers for the ensuing year, June 5, 1956.

It is extremely important that all members be present at Hicks

Elder's Council

Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Morgan,
Hicks E. L. Grand, and Mrs. E. L.
Hicks attended the first session of the Presiding Elder's Council of the 12th Episcopal District. African Methodist Episcopal Church, which was held at Hotel A. M. E. Church, North Little Rock, Ark., Thursday and Friday, May 31-June 1.

This meeting was presided over by Bishop Sherman L. Greene, who was assigned to the 12th Episcopal District at the recent General Conference which was held in Miami, Florida, May 2-16.

Delegates Attend Congress
Rev. F. R. Williams and delegat-

Church motored to Malvern, Ark., today, where they will attend the Sunday School, B. T. U. and Usher Board Congress which will be in session June 4-8.

Rev. Williams is the Director General of the State Congress.

Local Club Women
Attend State Meeting
Mrs. Veronica Phillips and Mrs.
Neva Carmichael left Sunday, June 3, for Madison, Ark., where they will attend the State meeting of the A. A. C. W. (Arkansas Association of Colored Women).

Mrs. Phillips is the Vice-President of the Anna P. Strong Club, and Mrs. Carmichael is the assistant Sec'y of the Club and State Supervisor of Girl's Clubs.

At the time of this writing, we do not have the names of the delegates from the Junior Anna P. Strong Club.

"CURTAIN" REMOVER—With Austria officially neutral by virtue of its peace treaty, it demanded that Communist Hungary remove the "iron curtain" between the two countries. Above, a Hungarian soldier, working in a mine-cleared area, cuts away the barbed wire fence that separated Nickelsdorf, Austria, and Heershalom, Hungary.

SISTER "CASEY JONES"—It's not often you'll see a nun in the cab of a locomotive. Sister Ann Domino decided she'd learn more about trains and what makes them run come BIE day in Cincinnati, Ohio. That's the one day a year when the local public and parochial schools are closed so that the teachers may learn firsthand the workings of business and industry. Giving Sister Ann some pointers is engineer E. R.
Epperly.

MANHATTANORAMA — Looking like a giant-sized garden slug, Manhattan and other parts of New York are shown in this aerial view, taken from a height of three miles by a U.S. military reconnaissance plane. It was exhibited recently at the "Open Skies" show in New York. Familiar landmarks are indicated on the photograph.

Travs Take 12-10 Win Over Barons

By The Associated Press
Marv Robblatt, who has been in and out of the Southern Association since 1949 without spectacular success, casts a strange hex on Birmingham Barons.

The 5-foot-7 lefthander blanked the league leaders in two overtime rounds yesterday and notched his fifth victory when Little Rock third baseman Spider Wilhelm homered with one on in the 11th inning to give the Travs a 12-10 verdict.

A quick check of the records shows that during his tours with Memphis, Atlanta and Little Rock, Robblatt owns an 8-1 edge over Birmingham with his lone setback coming in 1949.

Second place Mobile cut Birmingham's lead to five games, by beating Chattanooga 9-2. Memphis tripped Atlanta 6-2 and replaced the Crackers in third place. New Orleans emerged from a five-game losing skid with 7-3 and 6-3 wins over Nashville.

Pirates Take Lead; Detroit Is Perking Up

By FRED DAWN
United Press Sports Writer

It took a drive even the Pittsburgh Pirates didn't match during these last two hectic weeks, but the Detroit Tigers are back in the American League pennant race.

And no less an authority than Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees says, "They're in it to stay, too. I've been saying all along they're a good club and now they're proving it."

Stengel should know because Bucky Harris' Tigers dealt the Yankees 6-3 and 7-4 losses yesterday to complete a sweep of a three-game series. The sweep gave the Tigers 11 wins in 15 games — a .733 pace since they were mired in seventh place on May 20. Even the giddy Pirates have travelled at "only" a .692 pace since May 20 in turning the National League race upside down.

Southpaw Billy Hoefi struck out seven batters and scattered nine hits to win his fifth game in the opener and Al Aber picked up his second win when the Tigers staged a three-run outburst in the 10th inning of the nightcap. The three straight losses mark the Yankees' longest losing streak of the season and the double loss was the first they've suffered since last August.

At the same time, the Tigers six straight victories equal the longest winning streak in the majors this year. They're tied with the Boston Red Sox for fourth place only two games behind the second place Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox took advantage of the Yankees' double loss to slice two full games off their lead with 12-0 and 9-2 triumphs over the Baltimore Orioles. Sherman Lollar and Dave Philley had four hits each in the opener as Dick Doverson won his third game while Jim Wilson pitched a four-hitter to win his third game in eight days in the nightcap. The White Sox rapped out 29 hits in the two games.

The Cleveland Indians beat the Washington Senators, 8-4, in 12 innings but "dropped" the second game, 7-1, and fell into third place. Vic Wertz singled home the tying run in the eighth inning of the opener and then clinched the verdict with a three-run, 12th-inning homer. Rookie Hal Griggs fanned nine to gain his first major league triumph in the nightcap.

The Kansas City Athletics overcame a 6-1 deficit to beat the Boston Red Sox, 7-6, in 10 innings.
In the other A. L. game, Catcher Tim Thompson singled home the winning run in the 10th after the Athletics routed Willard Nixon to tie the score with a five-run outburst in the eighth.

The Pirates visited the "never-never" land of first place when they won their opener, 3-1, but the Milwaukee Braves bounced them ruthlessly back to reality by taking the nightcap, 4-3, and regaining N. L. games.

Murry Dickson pitched a five-hitter to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 win but then Harvey Haddis scattered nine hits behind a 15-blow attack that included five by Richie Ashburn to give the Philadelphia Phillies an even break, 9-3. Dickson has won three games since joining the Cardinals while Haddis' victory was his second since he was acquired by the Phillies.

Whitley Lockman drove in three runs to earn the New York Giants a 4-2 win after two-run homers by Frank Robinson and Ray Jablonski powered the Cincinnati Red-legs to a 7-3 triumph in the other nightcap.

our minds about their noses when we saw the bird work at this trial under conditions of wind, wet and cold that would have presented a problem to any dog.

Never before, however, have we seen such evidence that Britnys as a breed—not just occasional individuals—can get out and go, with an industry and purpose that will take the superior noses into more productive places in the same time.

If this trend can continue without some unforeseen setback, it won't be long until the foot hunter will be able to get a pointing spaniel that can give him a real thrill while filling his game pocket.

It's true that old pointing dog men will miss the tail, but despite the absence of these rangy little dogs point with lofty style.
On the credit side, what a tall adds to style in action it detracts from convenience in the house or car.

Next time there's a Britany trial in your vicinity, join the gallery and get out to see the bobtail run.

Bauer Sisters Take Top Money

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — The famed Bauer golfing sisters are a little richer today, with Marlene picking up $1,350 for first prize in the Churchill Valley women's invitational golf tournament and Alice pocketing $855 in tying for second place.

Marlene, of Asheville, N. C., shot a 71 yesterday despite soggy greens and inclement weather to finish with a 72-hole total of 293.

Meanwhile, sister Alice from Sarasota, Fla., posted a final round of 73 to give her a 298 total and a second place tie with Fay Crocker, U. S. women's open champ from Montevideo, Uruguay.

Miss Crocker had a stroke lead 77 to lose the one stroke lead she held for three days.

Moore to Fight to Retain Title

By The Associated Press
A pair of fights that could lead to a September final for the vacant heavyweight title are on tap this week.

In London tomorrow night Archie Moore, the light heavyweight champion, and self-appointed No. 1 heavyweight, defends his 175-pound crown against Trinidad's Yolande Pompey in a 15-rounder. The 39-year-old champ from San Diego, Calif., is a 4-1 favorite to dispose of the 27-year-old 170-pounder.

On Friday night in New York's Madison Square Garden, Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, 24-year-old New Yorker and No. 2 heavyweight, opposes Floyd Patterson, 21, once-beaten Brooklyn prodigy, in a 12-round elimination scrap.

Middleweight contenders Bobby Boyd, Chicago, and Milo Savage, Salt Lake City, clash at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Tonight's TV headliner matches a couple of good offensive fighters in Tex Gonzalez, East Orange, N.J., and Hardy (Bacooka) Small, Brooklyn, at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. Gonzalez has a 21-5-1 record compared to Smallwood's 17-5-2.

Californian Leads in Houston Meet

DALLAS, Tex. — Gene Littler, the cool and calculating Californian who's at his best when the stakes are high, led the $70,000 Texas International Open into its final round today with a 2-stroke bulge over Cary Middlecoff, the deliberate dentist from Memphis.

Littler, ex-amateur king from Singing Hills, Calif., who has won some of golf's biggest purses in his three years as a professional, will be after $13,478 first money. He takes a 54-hole total of 197 into the last round.

Local Residents Attend Presiding Elder's Council

This meeting was presided over by Bishop Sherman L. Greene, who was assigned to the 12th Episcopal District at the recent General Conference which was held in Miami, Florida, May 2-16.

Delegates Attend Congress
Rev. F. R. Williams and delegates from Garrett Chapel Baptist Church motored to Malvern, Ark., today, where they will attend the Sunday School, B. T. U. and Usher Board Congress which will be in session June 4-8.

Rev. Williams is the Director General of the State Congress.

Local Club Women Attend State Meeting
Mrs. Veronica Phillips and Mrs. Neva Carmichael left Sunday, June 3, for Madison, Ark., where they will attend the State meeting of the A. A. C. W. (Arkansas Association of Colored Women).

Mrs. Phillips is the Vice-President of the Anna P. Strong Club, and Mrs. Carmichael is the assistant Sec'y of the Club and State Supervisor of Girl's Clubs.

At the time of this writing, we do not have the names of the delegates from the Junior Anna P. Strong Club.

Local Shriners Attend Jubilee Day Services
Nobles H. L. Washington and C. W. Hicks of Mohammed Temple No. 34, motored to Hot Springs, Ark., Sunday June 3, to attend the Shriners Jubilee Day Services, which were held at Visitors Chapel A. M. E. Church. They were accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Hicks and daughter, Marian.

Hosts to this service were: Mohammed Temple No. 34, Assansin Temple No. 97, Sphinx Temple No. 25, Helena, Ark., and Rahman Temple No. 77, Pine Bluff, Ark.

The sermon for the occasion was delivered by Rev. Ezra Melvin Johnson, Pastor of Visitors Chapel.

After the service a delicious chicken dinner was served to the Shriners and their guests at the Club Copacabana.

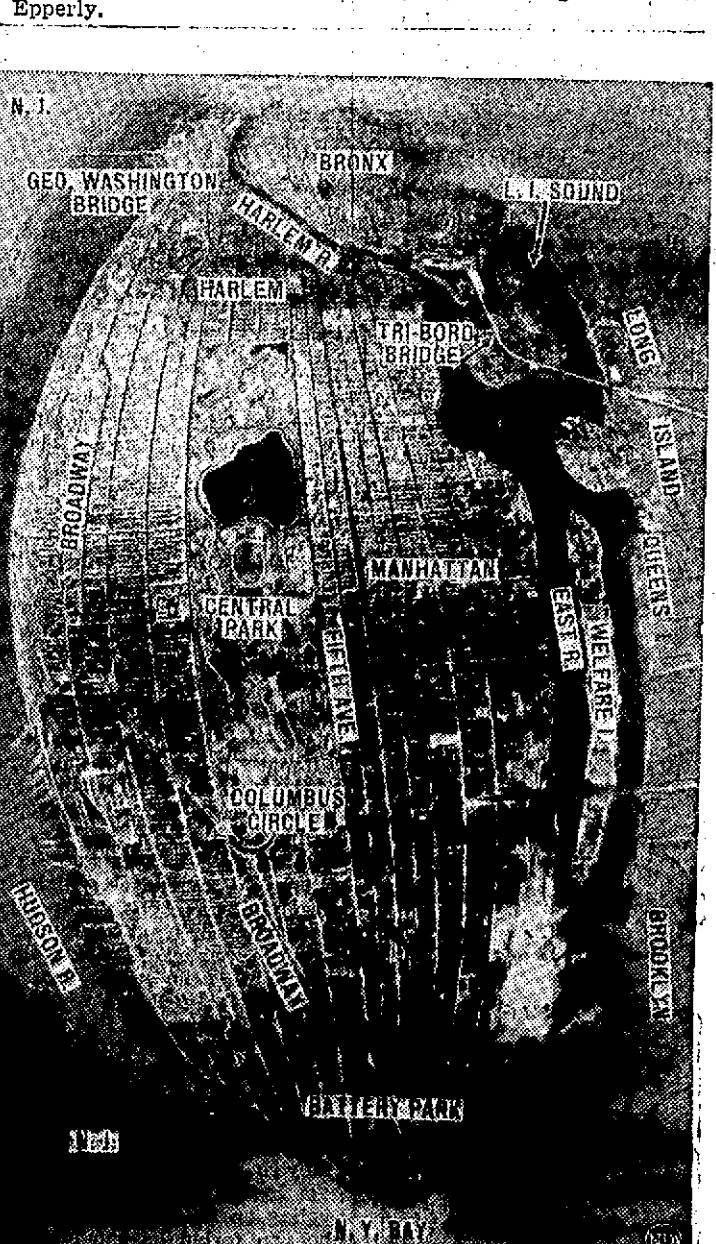

There were 1,488,000 marriages in the United States in 1955.

Travs Take 12-10 Win Over Barons

By The Associated Press
Marv Rotblatt, who has been in and out of the Southern Association since 1949 without spectacular success, casts a strange hex on Birmingham Barons.

The 5-foot-7 lefthander blanked the league leaders in two over-time rounds yesterday and nipped his fifth victory when Little Rock third baseman Spider Wilhelm homered with one on in the 11th inning to give the Travs a 12-10 verdict.

A quick check of the records shows that during his tours with Memphis, Atlanta and Little Rock, Rotblatt owns an 8-1 edge over Birmingham with his lone setback coming in 1949.

Second place Mobile cut Birmingham's lead to five games by beating Chattanooga 9-2. Memphis tripped Atlanta 6-2 and replaced the Crackers in third place. New Orleans emerged from a five-game losing skid with 7-3 and 6-3 wins over Nashville.

Pirates Take Lead; Detroit Is Perking Up

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

It took a drive even the Pittsburgh Pirates didn't match during these last two hectic weeks, but the Detroit Tigers are back in the American League pennant race.

And no less an authority than Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees says, "They're in it to stay, too. I've been saying all along they're a good club and now they're proving it."

Stengel should know because Buckie Harris' Tigers dealt the Yankees 6-3 and 7-4 losses yesterday to complete a sweep of a three-game series. The sweep gave the Tigers 11 wins in 15 games — a .733 pace since they were mired in seventh place on May 20. Even the giddy Pirates have traveled at "only" a .692 pace since May 20 in turning the National League race upside down.

Southpaw Billy Hoelt struck out seven batters and scattered nine hits to win his fifth game in the opener and Al Aber picked up his second win when the Tigers started a three-run outburst in the 10th inning of the nightcap. The three straight losses mark the Yankees' longest losing streak of the season and the double loss was the first they've suffered since last August.

At the same time, the Tigers six straight victories equal the longest winning streak in the majors this year. They're tied with the Boston Red Sox for fourth place only two games behind the second place Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox took advantage of the Yankees' double loss to slice two full games off their lead with 12-0 and 9-2 triumphs over the Baltimore Orioles. Sherman Lollar and Dave Philley had four hits each in the opener as Dick Donovan won his third game while Jim Wilson pitched a four-hitter to win his third game in eight days in the nightcap. The White Sox rapped out 29 hits in the two games.

The Cleveland Indians beat the Washington Senators, 8-4, in 12 innings but dropped the second game, 7-1, and fell into third place. Vic Wertz singled home the tying run in the eighth inning of the opener and then clinched the verdict with a three-run, 12th-inning homer. Rookie Hal Griggs fanned nine to gain his first major league triumph in the nightcap.

The Kansas City Athletics overcame a 6-1 deficit to beat the Boston Red Sox, 7-6, in 10 innings in the other A. L. game. Catcher Tim Thompson singled home the winning run in the 10th after the Athletics routed Willard Nixon to tie the score with a five-run outburst in the eighth.

The Pirates visited the "never-rever" land of first place when they won their opener, 3-1, but the Milwaukee Braves bounced them rudely back to reality by taking the nightcap, 4-3, and regaining the lead in the National League. Little Rroy Face, with ninth-inning aid from Nelson King, scored his fourth victory in the opener but then Bob Buhl came through with an eight-hitter to win his fourth game. The Pirates had not held first place since May 10, 1948.

The world champion Brooklyn Dodgers snapped out of a four-game losing skid when they shaded the Chicago Cubs, 4-3. Sandy Koufax, 20-year-old bonus kid won his first game although Clem Labine finished up. Carl Furillo and Gil Hodges homered for the Dodgers.

Murry Dickson pitched a five-inning shutout to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 win but then Harvey Haddix scattered nine hits behind by Philadelphia Phillies and gave the Cardinals a 3-2 victory in the other N. L. game.

Whitey Lockman drove in three runs to earn the New York Giants a 4-2 win after two-run homers by Frank Robinson and Ray Jablonski powered the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-3 triumph in the other N. L. games.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON

Chuck Laidlaw and I rode to 35 braces of Brittanys in the Britanny Club of Upper New York's spring trial.

Spring was hardly the word to describe the weather. The ground frosted at night and the wind blew. The sun was seen but rarely and the rain, which threatened continually and made good its threat occasionally, was punctuated by the snow flurries.

To say that we were not cold to the marrow, especially on the day we judged 20 braces, would be putting it mildly, but with it all the trial was a pleasant and a thrilling experience. We dismounted after the last brace to thaw before the fire with a new respect for the little "pointing spaniels" and "hat" they could do with the help of a good breeding and training program.

We had seen and judged Brittanys before. We were aware that they have excellent noses and are more amenable to training than the more intense pointer dogs.

We had no reason to change our

Marshal Tito Never Had It So Good

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Marshal Tito can quack like a fat duck on a nest of eggs. He never had it so good.

This government, with its fingers crossed, is watching the Yugoslav President's visit to Moscow to see if he turns his back on the West and joins up again 100 per cent with the Russians. Why should he?

He's had a soft touch, letting the United States and Russia both bid for his favor. All he's had to do is sit still, like a village belle, waiting for the suitors to bring him candy bars.

Unless there's something which doesn't meet the eye, there seems no reason for him to stop playing the game of both ends against the middle.

The United States has spent an estimated one billion dollars on Yugoslavia since Tito broke with Stalin in 1948, the first Communist satellite leader to try it.

It would have been no surprise if he had been attacked or assassinated then. He was surrounded by Russian satellites, his onetime friends.

This country didn't help him for love. It looked like a good investment. If he could survive with Western help, Communist leaders might be encouraged to bust up Stalin's playhouse.

And if he couldn't be brought into the Western military alliance — his military forces are largely equipped now with Western weapons — he would still be valuable as a neutral buffer between the two sides.

He preferred to stay neutral but has been on the friendliest terms with the West. This was all a thorn in Russia's side while Stalin lived. But Stalin, having thrown Tito out of the Russian orbit, couldn't take him back in.

Stalin's heirs went to work on that problem shortly after the old man died. It was a break in the Red wall which had to be mended. They soft-talked Tito. Premier Bulganin and Communist boss Khrushchev humbly visited him.

They're dangling money bags in front of him. The Soviet bloc reportedly has offered him 300 million dollars in loans and reported he has accepted. This year the Eisenhower administration was thinking in terms of a 30-million-dollar gift to him. The House Foreign Affairs Committee has recommended that be cut in half.

The United States didn't help him blindly, hoping he'd renounce communism. He has steadfastly said he was a Communist and would remain one. What the West hoped for was to keep him away from Russia.

Now he's in Russia, he's a tough character. He's never been a pat on the head for anyone. If he thinks he's milked the West dry and can get more nourishment from Russia, it's possibly he'll turn back to Russia.

If he should make a military alliance with the Soviets, it would be bad news for this country. But why should he give up his neutral position, if he can stay fat that way?

One thing he knows: If he turns his back on the West now, and later the Russians try to show him up as they did once before, he won't have any powerful help from the West to bail him out again.

Tito looks like a loner. He'll soon show whether he is.

Ex-Producer of RKO Now Drives a Cab

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some passengers of a local cabbie are jolted when they see who's driving them. They recognize him as Jack Votion, once the producer of RKO movies.

This is the latest chapter in the fantastic life of the Belgian-born man who owns a chestful of medals from both world wars — he was a U. S. Army colonel in the last one.

A few years ago, he was earning $1,000 a week as head of RKO in England. Today he averages $22 a week from taxi fares.

"The thing I want least is sympathy," he marked at his home. "I've had a wonderful life, and I'm still enjoying it."

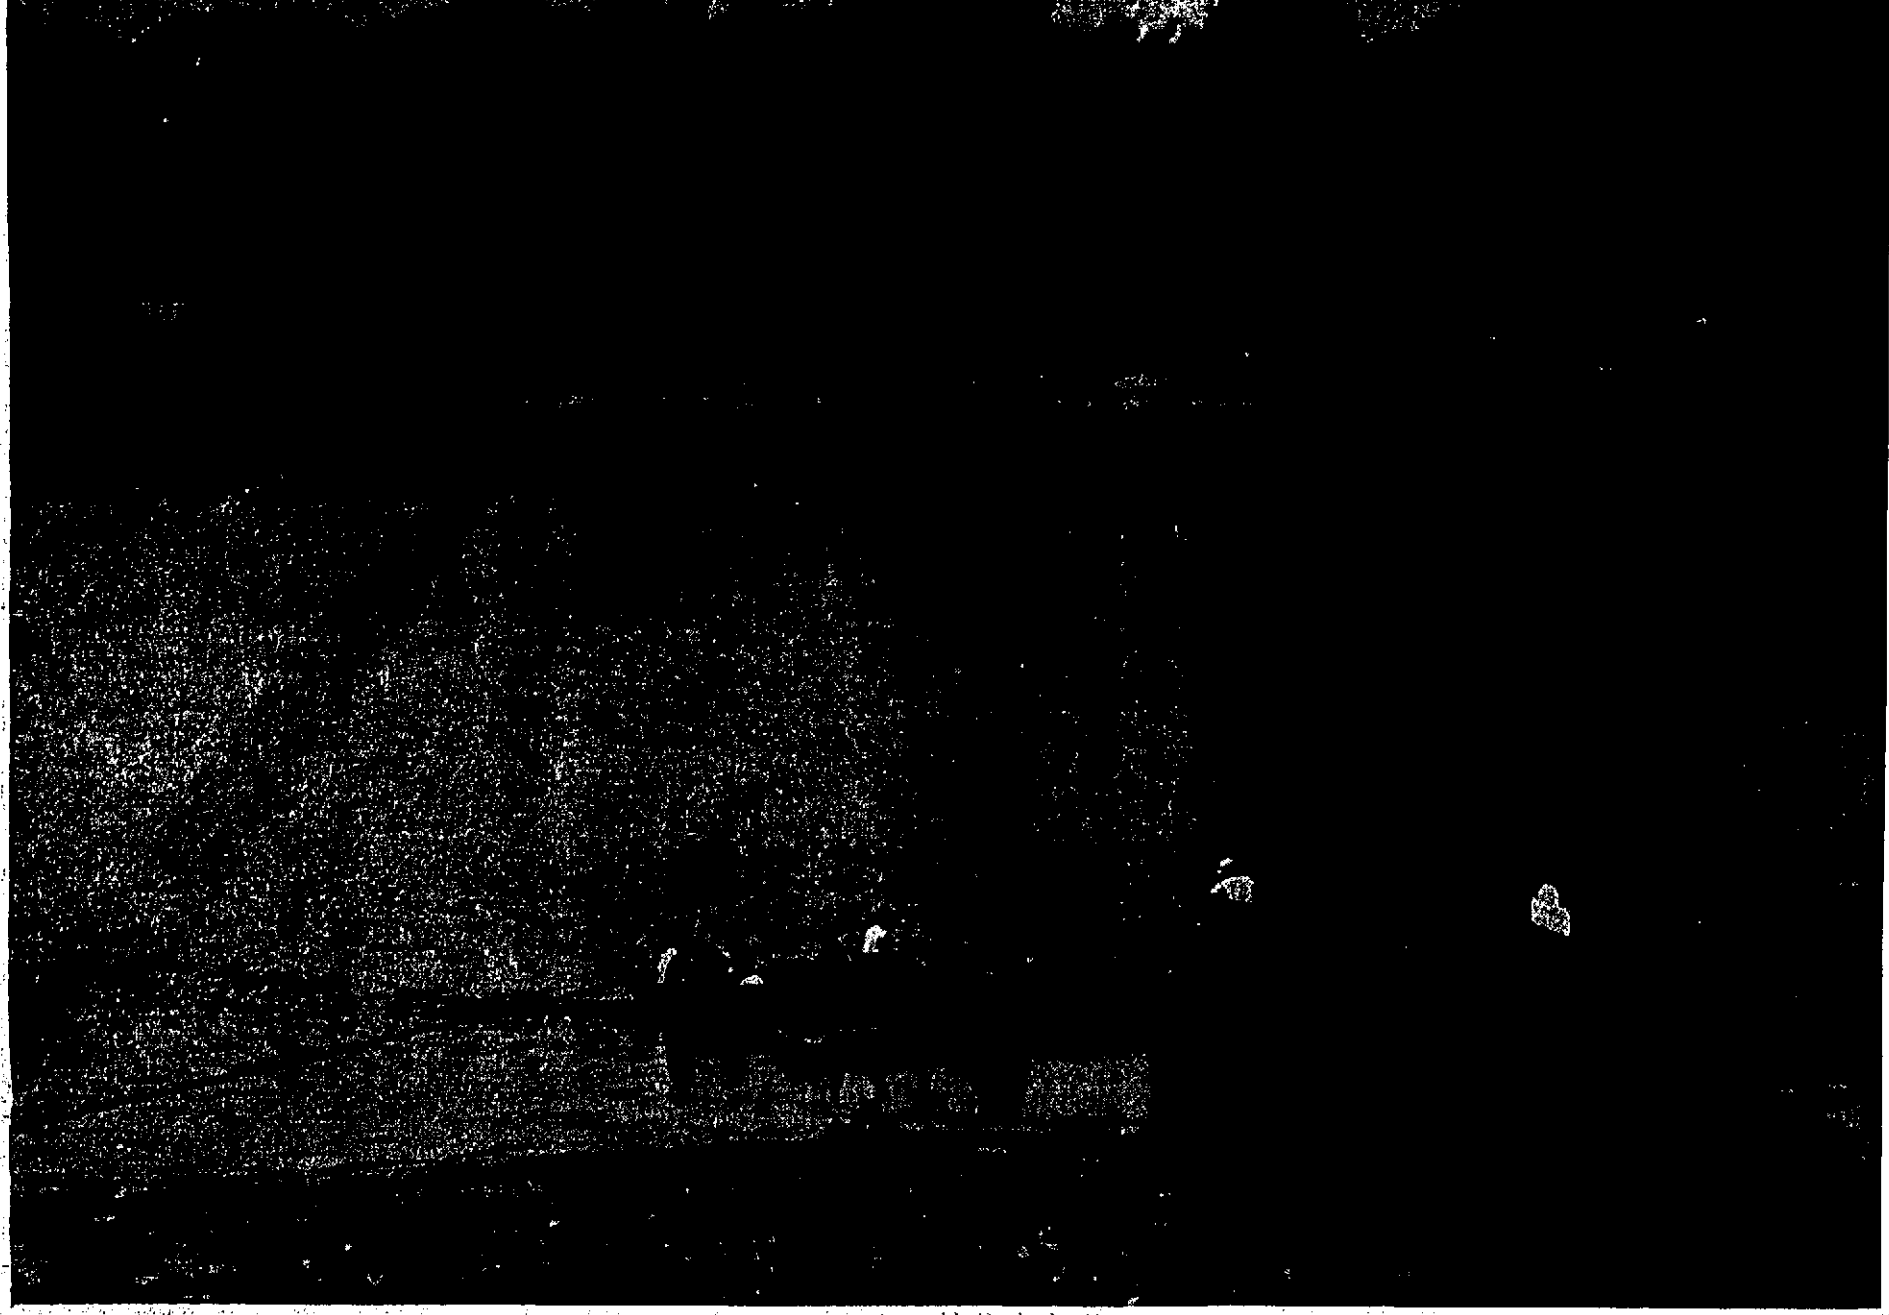

"I can't find a job in the kind of work I want because of something common to those my age. Unfortunately I was born in 1900. If it were 1896 or 1905, people would have trouble figuring how old I was; this way they know right away."

The son of an English mother and a Belgian father, Votion enlisted in the British army at 14 during the first war. Invalided out, he then joined the Belgian army. He came to Hollywood in 1922, starting in the movies as a laborer at Paramount. He climbed through the ranks to become head of the talent department, a post he also held at RKO.

After 10 years as a top man at a talent agency, he turned producer. He was intrigued that a radio team named Lum and Abner could attract millions of listeners five times a week. He worked up a package deal to release through RKO. The first six features cost $110,000 but brought in more than a million.

His career was interrupted by

The Last Red River Ferry — at Dooley's Landing — as It Looked in 1936

Tall Drifter

By W. Edmunds Claussen

THE STORY: Frank Ude is an outlaw. As a pete trails Frank and Emmett near Cashtown, Frank tries to part company but Emmett shoots a posseman's horse in order to make Frank an outlaw too.

CHAPTER XII

Frank swung about, "I ought to kill you for that!" he murmured between tight jaws.

Again that laugh in Emmett's brazen way. "We're both in it now. Don't try and run against your rope. Lew Chantry won't let up till he cripples his horse in bringing you in."

Frank was without knowledge of the hiding places around this country. He didn't have a chance unless he rode down now and surrendered to Chantry. To do this he'd have to kill Emmett first.

"There's a blind canyon yonder a couple miles that's not as blind as it looks. Lew Chantry's lost beyond that rock pile. The other side of the hill is Yates' homestead. Not even Chantry would be fool enough to jump us when my whole outfit's together."

As he started downlope he decided Sheriff Chantry was shrewd in withholding the posse's fire until they closed the gap. Frank decided he was in a fix and might as well go through with Emmett. After they had outdistanced the posse beyond the box canyon he could make his break. "No more shooting if we ride together."

Emmett forged ahead plunging his gray between the canyon's jaws at breakneck speed. They raced through the canyon's throat lifting dust in narrow where the sunlight could enter only from above. Frank now saw the walls curve in a crescent shaped bow, creating an oval pocket perhaps a half mile wide. An ugly mine dump and the gray-board mill building he had expected loomed against the yellow rim. Behind it a narrow trail twisted as far as the mine head. Above that stood only the vertical walls of the canyon. Close as he inspected this pocket he could find no suggestion of a way out. Except for Emmett's description he would

Dec. 7, 1941," he related. "I was a naturalized citizen and graduate of this country. Although I was over-age I still wanted to show my gratitude."

Entering as a lieutenant in the photographic division, he rose to be a colonel in intelligence, performing in many highly secret and important missions. After the war, he settled in London as RKO's top man there. He was dropped when Howard Hughes bought the company.

Votion returned to the United States. Movie bigshots he had entertained in Europe or worked with here would greet him cordially in cafes, asking him to call. But when he telephoned their offices, he couldn't get past the battery of secretaries.

"One day I asked a cab driver how much he made," Votion said. "When he told me $75 a week, I decided to try it. Surprisingly enough, they gave me a job."

He has been at it almost six months, leaving his house at 2:30 in the afternoon and returning at 1:30 a.m. "Yes, I often pick up people the know me," he laughed. "They reaction is not merely surprise. It's shock."

This is the old Dooley's Ferry southwest of Spring Hill as it looked 20 years ago — one of the last ferry-boats to operate on Red River being discontinued a few years after this photograph was taken by A. H. Washburn for Hope Star's Arkansas Centennial Edition of June 26, 1936.

You are looking west across Red River to Lost Prairie, now a part of Miller county. Lost Prairie got its name from the fact that Red River used to change its course frequently and this area never quite knew whether it belonged to Hempstead or Miller counties.

At the time the picture was made the ferry was owned by R. H. Betts and operated by G. E. Betts. But at the time it closed down it was owned and operated by the late Edgar Brint and Oscar Brint, the latter now living at Spring Hill. The Betts' ownership was mentioned in the Centennial Edition, but the final ownership by the Brints was verified this morning in Hope by Joe C. Porterfield of Spring Hill — answering an inquiry The Star had put out for information to go with this enlargement of the old 1936 negative.

The Centennial Edition carried a story on the old ferry written by Horace Kennedy, Hope native and well known school teacher and director of singing schools, based on a lecture he once gave a rural school in Miller county where he was teaching 20 years ago.

Kennedy reported that Hernandez DeSoto, great Spanish explorer, is believed to have crossed Red River at the ferry location; and General Albert Pike's "Autobiography" definitely establishes the fact that Sam Houston and Elias Rector crossed over there. And Governor Planagin of Confederate Days used the ferry when fleeing from the Civil War capital at Washington to Rondo, Miller county, taking with him his personal records and the records of the state government as the Northern army approached this region.

NBC Goes Out for Children's TV Stories

BY CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC-TV is trying to corner the children's market—or, to be more specific, the children's story market.

This past season it has presented translations of "Heidi," "Alice in Wonderland," and, of course, "Peter Pan." Now the people there are greatly excited about an original musical version of "Jack and the Beanstalk," scheduled for fall production on "Producers' Showcase." They're so excited, in fact, that the network reportedly is considering putting the show on Broadway after its TV showing. Which is an interesting switch.

The script, musical score and lyrics have been completed by Helen Deutsch, one of Hollywood's most successful film writers, and composer Jerry Livingston.

Miss Deutsch, in discussing the show the other day, had the problem of telling enough about it to make it sound interesting and at the same time not spilling the whole bag of beans.

Scarcely anyone has a clear recollection of the story, she pointed out. It has passed out of fashion and is difficult to find in print. I couldn't find a copy, in fact, but I remember the story as going something like this:

Young chap named Jack is sent to the butcher with a cow by his mother. On the way he meets a fellow with a bag of beans and trades the cow for the beans. His mother gets so sore at this apparent idiocy that she throws out the beans. Over-night they take root and in the morning there's this enormous bean stalk growing into the sky. Jack climbs it to the top and walks to a giant's castle. There he steals the giant's magic harp, his bag of gold and the hen that lays the golden eggs. The giant, annoyed at this larceny, chases Jack down the beanstalk. Wham! The giant falls and is killed. Jack has the loot. End of story.

Emmett, "No obligations, Frank. Except to himself. He's got to live for himself the way he can get the most out of each day."

Around The World

LONDON, (UP) — Russia has refused permission for two British airliners to land in Moscow, it was disclosed today. There was no explanation.

One was a Viscount turbo-jet that was to have carried a party of British tourist chiefs to Moscow Wednesday. The other was a propeller-driven Viking that was to have flown a fashion show and six models to Moscow on Thursday.

The tourist group, headed by J. C. Bridges, director general of the British Travel and Holidays Association, was invited by the head of the Soviet Intourist Travel Bureau.

British European Airways made arrangements for the flight, hoping to show off one of its finest jet airliners. The new Russian jetliners, the TU-104, had been similarly displayed in Britain during the April visit of Russia's leaders.

The tourist group is now expected to take a commercial flight to Moscow.

Reports here said the Russians are believed to be arguing that only "vips"—very important people—should be allowed in on chartered flights. Otherwise their own airline, Aeroflot, would lose revenue.

LONDON, (UP) — Two Russian warships flying Polish flags sailed past Britain in the English channel during the night.

The warships were spotted off Dover at dusk yesterday. They ignored a "what ship?" call from a signal station and turned west.

Observers identified them as destroyer-minelayers of the Skory class.

PARIS, (UP) — Daily newspapers in France will reduce the size of their editions this summer because of a shortage of newsprint, the National Press Federation said today.

The federation said newsprint will be strictly rationed because of slow delivery from northern countries and failure to find other sources of supply on the international market.

ZURICH, Switzerland, (UP) — The literary world paid tribute today to Austrian-born author Siegfried Trebitsch, who died at his home here Saturday night at the age of 81.

Although he was a prolific writer of novels, essays and poems, Trebitsch's best-known work was probably the translation of the works of his personal friend, George Bernard Shaw, into German.

LONDON, (UP) — Ten-year-old London, (UP) — Ten-year-old mauled by a lion in a London zoo Pope Pius XII today in his fight for life.

The pontiff sent his blessing yesterday when he learned the boy was in critical condition. The boy ing something like this:

Young chap named Jack is sent to the butcher with a cow by his mother. On the way he meets a fellow with a bag of beans and trades the cow for the beans. His mother gets so sore at this apparent idiocy that she throws out the beans. Over-night they take root and in the morning there's this enormous bean stalk growing into the sky. Jack climbs it to the top and walks to a giant's castle. There he steals the giant's magic harp, his bag of gold and the hen that lays the golden eggs. The giant, annoyed at this larceny, chases Jack down the beanstalk. Wham! The giant falls and is killed. Jack has the loot. End of story.
